FIFTY-NINTH YEAR NO. 51

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1936

NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—With the recent addition of two battalions to the 138th Field Artillery Regiment, the Ohio National Guard has extended the scope of its organization both in personnel and the number of stations so that Ohio, which is fourth state in population, is fourth in National Guard strength, according to Brigadier General Emil F. Marx, who is Adjutant General of Ohio. The organization now comprises 208 different headquarters and units located in seventy-seven cities, villages and towns in fifty-seven of the eighty-eight counties. The new battalions increased the artillery maximum allotted strength to 716 officers, nine warrant officers and 8,609 enlisted men. General Marx reported that 8,004 officers and enlisted men of the Ohio National Guard participated in actual field training during the encampments last summer.

It was announced by State Finance Director M. Ray Allison that the various state departments are submitting budget requests outlining their respective financial needs for the next two years. From the information provided in the budget data the total executive budget for the state will be prepared by Director Allison for submission to the governor. The governor, if it meets his approval, will in turn submit it to the ninety-second General Assembly. The first 1937-38 budget request filed with Director Allison was from the state board of cosmetology.

Tribute to the leadership of Walter F. Kirk of Port Clinton as master of the Ohio State Grange was paid during the National and State Grange combined convention when Mr. Kirk was re-elected master of the Ohio organization for his fifth consecutive two-year term. Other state officers elected were Vernon E. Crouse of North Lima, overseer; Joseph W. Fichter of Hamilton, lecturer; E. C. Mannon of Wilmington, steward; J. H. Foreythe of Granville, assistant steward; Rev. W. C. Patterson of Cadiz, chaplain; W. C. Carl of Alton, treasurer; John Cunningham of Mt. Vernon, secretary; and H. A. Atwood of Garrettsville, gatekeeper. It was the twenty-first year that Mr. Atwood was elected to the office of gatekeeper.

The Works Progress Administration in Ohio has 3,300 projects in operation, according to Dr. Carl Watson, Ohio WPA administrator. Nearly 150,000 needy men and women are receiving work through the program, which requires a federal expenditure of approximately $11,000,000 a month. Two thousand Ohio projects have been completed. Since the inception of WPA in July of 1935 the federal government has contributed about $140,000,000 to the state and through the requirement of sponsor contribution has been instrumental in releasing approximately $28,000,000 additional. "The federal work relief program," Dr. Watson pointed out, "not only results in tangible assets to a community through the construction of hospitals, roads and sanitary systems, but it helps to preserve the self-respect and morale of the worker and preserves his skill so that he is ready to resume his place in private industry as many are doing each week."

Death last week claimed a devoted state employee, Dr. William H. Pritchard, who was superintendent of the Columbus State Hospital for more than two decades. He had been in failing health for several months. Mrs. Margaret Allman, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, announced that pending the appointment of a successor to Dr. Pritchard, Dr. Isabel A. Bradley, who has served as assistant superintendent during Dr. Pritchard's administration, will charge of the institution.

Appeals Court Renders Decision In Jobe Estate

The second district court of appeals has handed down a decision favorable to Ethel Boyd Shaffer, Xenia, against Charles L. Jobe, in a partition suit involving the respective interests of parties to the case in the G. F. Jobe farm.

The interest involved in the litigation was the one-fifth part of the farm which was owned by Walter Jobe at the time of his death, having come from George F. Jobe under terms of his will.

The original action of G. L. Jobe sought partition of the farm, in which he claimed an undivided eight-fifteenth part. The petition set for the defendant, Ethel Shaffer, was entitled to a three-fifteenth part, subject to the dower interest of her mother, Anna Boyd; that Mary Margaret Jobe, minor child of the late J. William Jobe, had a one-fifteenth interest, subject to the dower interest of her mother, Mary Jobe, and that Alta C. Jobe, widow of Edward Jobe, had a three-fifteenth interest.

The farm belonged to the estate of George F. Jobe, who died May 18, 1923. The trial court decreed partition of the real estate to the parties in the proportions alleged in the petition, with the exception the three-fifteenth share of Ethel Shaffer was found free of dower. The court held in addition to the one-fifth interest from Walter Jobe, who died September 14, 1920, one-fourth of the one-fifth interest which he had received by inheritance from George F. Jobe.

The interest under consideration was ancestral property and the appeals court said a tree of the Jobe family, presented by counsel for the plaintiffs, proved helpful to a determination of the question.

Taking exception to the view of the trial court that the interest of Walter Jobe, a nephew of G. L. Jobe, passed to the brothers of his father, J. Riley Jobe, or their representatives, the appeals court upheld the contention of counsel for Ethel Shaffer that the interest should pass to the representatives of the brothers and sisters of George F. Jobe, the testator.

The appeals court ruled that Ethel Shaffer should share in the one-fifth interest left by Walter Jobe in the proportion of one-fourth thereof, and ordered that the shares of the appeals as fixed by the trial court should be reduced proportionately.

Tuesday evening the Monks' Club met with Prof. and Mrs. C. W. Steele. Miss Mary Helen Creswell led the devotions. The remainder of the evening was spent in song service.

The annual Y. W. C. A. Committal Service, written by Frances McChesney, was held in the Presbyterian Church Thursday evening.

Bang! Bang! Numerous boys missing from classes and numerous cotton-tails missing from fields. A casual observer would deduct that the hunting season was in.

The Hampton Institute Sextette from Hampton, Virginia will present a program in chapel Monday morning, November 23, at 11:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, Juvenile Court Officer of Greene County addressed the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday morning.

No Hunter Injured On Opening Day

The hunting season opened Monday noon for rabbit and pheasant and for the first time in many years, no accidents were reported the first day in this section. There are said to be plenty of pheasants, if you can find them. Rabbits are numerous and hunters had their share of the five limit each day.

This year is the 12th time in the 30 years that Christmas Health Seals have been sold that Santa Claus has appeared on the Seal, said a statement issued today by the Ohio Public Health Association in connection with the 1936 Seal sale, which will start Thanksgiving Day and close Christmas.

In other years, Santa Claus has been portrayed in the conventional manner, but this year he has turned modern and is shown as a jolly old fellow, happy in the thought that he is doing his part through the means of the Christmas Seal Sale, in bringing relief to sufferers from tuberculosis.

Each Seal bears the double-barred cross, the emblem of the world-wide campaign against tuberculosis. This year 106 public health associations and committees are cooperating with the Ohio Public Health Association in the sale of the Seals in the Buckeye State.

The electors had defeated a three mill levy for three years to provide extra funds and no finances being in sight there was nothing to do but close the schools as teachers had not been receiving their pay since last June.

Thirty-seven civic organizations in the city canvassed the situation and a committee of fifteen recommended that teachers return to their classes that school could open for a trial period of four weeks.

It is either refund present bonded debt, which will leave the schools in worse condition next year, or again place a proposed two mill levy for two years before the electors. Property owners and the real estate board campaigned against the three mill levy which was defeated more than two to one.

A VOICE FROM THE SOUTH

The past four years has witnessed the solid South entrenched firmly in the New Deal saddle. The North was as helpless as if it was a single unit no larger than the average rural county. The South played its hand and milked the north for the boondoggling dollars, for the north pays in federal taxes many times what is collected in the south.

The election this month places many new faces in both branches of congress. The South will still have its usual strength but this coming session the North will outnumber due to the sweep of the recent election. Labor unions during the coming session will have a greater strength than ever and will have much to say with presidential approval. The South under the circumstances faces new opposition, for it will be recalled that child labor and union labor have little hold on the South. Even under NRA the South paid no attention to either and the administration overlooked its main political support and cracked the whip over the North.

There are indications that the labor forces will be compelled to wedge in between the political south and the White House. Southern newspapers by the hundred have turned their backs on the New Deal since the election and are preaching Democracy and pointing out the way towards preserving the party of their choice. The labor unions and brain trusters will contest that issue, all of which indicates that we have some interesting federal issues before us for the coming year.

To give the northern reader some idea of how the South is now speaking we quote from the Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser, one of the oldest Democratic papers in the south: "Mr. Roosevelt has had his triumph. He has conquered his enemies. Now, we think, he should be generous and gracious. His victory is so great that he is under obligation to no arrogant organized minority, whether it be the American Federation of Labor, or the American Legion, or the United States Chamber of Commerce, or the American Farm Bureau Association. . . . Let the President fire half the members of his present cabinet and put men of real weight in their places. . . . The President will need in the next four years the advice and opposition of powerful men. Let him not fear to summon them to his side. . . . Americans are neither radical or irresponsible. . . . Frankly, we think it is time for the President to slow down."

BRAIN-TRUSTER TUGWELL TAKES A "WALK"

From a clear sky Rexford Tugwell, Number One brain-truster in the New Deal, announced his resignation, Wednesday, to accept a business engagement in New York. Tugwell probably exerted more influence as under-secretary of Agriculture than even Secretary Wallace himself. His second position resigned was that of resettlement administrator, a brain-brained scheme to squander billions of Uncle Sam's money.

Tugwell was the center of political fire during the recent presidential campaign. His idea of government was from the standpoint of a Russian dictator rather than the established American form of democracy. Tugwell's many ideas proposed by the Roosevelt administration had all the background of Communistic Russia, and it has been intimated Roosevelt was much exercised over the trend of the campaign even though he won as without opposition. It was known that opposition to Tugwell was fomenting all through the South, and pressure was being heaped on Roosevelt to drop back into more conservative Democratic lines.

No man in the history of any nation ever squandered as many million dollars as has Tugwell. He has built whole towns and rural settlements, most all of which have been financial failures. In West Virginia he erected scores of houses in a mountain settlement that did not even provide for any kind of heat. There were bathrooms and no water and no sewerage. A Dayton settlement of the Tugwell idea was started but failed as people would not be satisfied to live as they do in Russia. Now the government offers 160 acres through a Dayton real estate dealer for $12,000. The buildings on the site were erected at a cost of more than $40,000, not including the cost of the land.

The nation has gained everything by Tugwell's resignation, the only regret is that he had not resigned sooner. With resignations from Wallace, Perkins and Ickes, and their places filled with conservative Democrats, there would be cause for rejoicing and some hope of security during the next four years, making allowance for a safe and sane congress.

A common ground can be found between Republicans and conservative Democrats but there was never any hope of either party existing any length of time with Communism and Socialism of the Tugwell-Frankfurter brand holding a threatening club over the White House through the labor unions.

With Roosevelt in Brazil and Congress at home, there is a wonderful chance for full economic recovery and the lines of the depression entirely wiped out.

DEATH OF MADAM SCHUMANN-HEINK

The announcement of the death of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink in Hollywood this week, spreads sorrow around the world. A native of Germany but by adoption an American, this noted artist occupied a unique position in the world. The beauty of her character was displayed when she was put to the test as a mother during the World War, where she had sons fighting on both sides. Her loyalty to this country never faltered and she spread cheer through her wonderful voice in the many war camps where American soldiers were quartered.

Much could be written about this beloved woman for few there are that could put their soul into song as she could. The open motherly expression in her face at all times whether on or off the concert stage did much to endear all people to her. Schumann-Heink has appeared in many cities of this state on the concert stage, and for many organizations. Her wonderful well rounded contralto voice had warmth and charm whether the number be classical or popular. She always chose the former ever mindful that the work of the masters was to be with us always. Her encore numbers were frequently of the semi-classical.

It is hard to think that this great voice has been stilled for well do we remember her solo work in important operas during the Sangerfest in Cincinnati some thirty-five years ago. It seems as if it were yesterday when we learn of her departure.

FOR SALE AND WANT ADS PAY BIG

A strong supporter of the New Deal that was greatly vexed over the attack, as he termed it, against the Social Security law, received his notice and request for registration from the very administration that around November was the "apple of his eye." Now this once New Deal admirer slips around under cover of darkness to get information from one who could not swallow the Communistic plan before the election. Employers of labor are now required to give their pedigree and be registered just like they do in Russia. The next step is registration of all employees, blanks to be mailed in a few days. This is the first step to a conclusion that was predicted before the election. Roosevelt supporters called it "an attack on the American Pay Roll." It is a pay roll tax and nothing else. Read John L. Lewis statement in Monday's press and see if the Republicans did not predict what will happen. Lewis wants industry and employers of eight or more to pay all the charges and let labor go free. Franklin Roosevelt is noted as opposing any change in the new law. This tax on the pay roll will likely stand until the Supreme Court upsets it, as Lewis intimates he law is unconstitutional.

With all industry registered and given a number it is well that labor also gets a number. The government in time of war will be several steps ahead of the situation the Democratic party found itself when the Woodrow Wilson administration voted to plunge into the World War. The same Roosevelt that was assistant Secretary of the Navy under Wilson is now president, and on the high sea bound for South America to urge all of our southern neighbors to join the World Court. This makes the U. S. policeman for all South American and European squabbles. With labor registered the call to arms means early entry into the next war.

As we pick up different newspapers for a causal glance about the first thing we read is the election result on some special levy tax or bond issue. In nine cases out of ten the voters turned down all requests and then the question is "Where Do We Go From Here?" It now turns out that Jameson voters defeated the special levy for electric lights. Franklin is in the same fix. London has turned off all street lights at nine o'clock due to rejection of the voters on a special levy.

Springfield still digs in trying to find funds to open the public schools, which at this time are on enforced vacation. All interests desire the early opening of the schools but where is the money to come from? All admit that there is little chance of a favorable vote even though the issue can be submitted again. Toledo needs $225,000 today to meet school salaries and other expenses. Dayton electors said no more school funds. Cincinnati fell in line with her sister cities and now the board is considering a six or eight weeks' holiday vacation to stretch funds even for an eight month term, the city always operating on a ten month school term. All this means something and we have not yet reached the time for payment of all the free spending that has been going on the past three years. All Ohio tax districts will be set back by removal of the sales tax on food. There must yet be greater retrenchment in operation of all branches of government or we are forced to return to removal of the ten mill limitation tax rate on all real estate.

A Cincinnati salesman this week made the statement in our hearing that might be a surprise to rural counties. According to our informant the liquor situation under state control in Hamilton county is doing more to make the state dry than if the Anti-Saloon League was back in its prime. Those in control from managers to enforcing agents have figured in different kinds of public scandal, yet the Davey administration keeps smothering exposure day after day. Recalling that the administration used more than a million dollars profit from the sale of liquor to purchase a great quantity and place it in storage to bolster campaign funds, we next review the election results on the wet and dry issue in Ohio this month. According to election returns 105 subdivisions, townships and municipalities, voted to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor and 87 voted to forbid the sale of beer. There are 1337 townships in the state and 984 forbid the sale of hard liquor and 204 prohibit the sale of beer. Even such wet counties as Hamilton, Cuyahoga and Franklin voted certain sections dry. Brewers and distillers are greatly alarmed and freely admit that if conditions are not corrected, state prohibition is not far away. Bootleggers that deal in state store liquor for resale are said to have protection from the state enforcement agency.

Ohio will have one congressman that will not wear a plug hat or a full dress suit or attend any functions where they are required. This declaration comes from the Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, Cincinnati, Socialist, who ran as a Democratic candidate for congress in the primary last May and won over the regular Democratic candidate. In the regular election he was the Father Coughlin or Lemke candidate on that ticket which was outlawed by the Supreme Court. Bigelow ran so fast in Hamilton county the Democrats could not even keep up with him and although impeded by the party powers he refused to campaign for Roosevelt, but supported Lemke for president. Bigelow was president of the Ohio constitutional convention in 1912 and is equal to a half dozen political leaders. All elements fought him in the last city election but Republican and Democratic charter candidates fell at his feet. He knows as much parliamentary law as the fellow that invented it. He has great oratorical power and is recognized as one of the brightest minds in Hamilton county. He will without doubt prove a worthy successor to the late Huey Long, a thorn in the side of the New Deal. He stands for all that Roosevelt preaches—and a lot more, ranking a 100 percent Socialist.

If ever a president of the United States found himself the butt of a humorous joke, that luck falls to Franklin Roosevelt, the supposed enemy of big business, trusts, Wall Street, exponent of Peace, and enemy of War. Cartoonists are having a harvest and the editorial writers and communists their hey-day. Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., is to wed Ethel duPont, daughter of Eugene duPont, multi-millionaire and head of a corporation that controls banks, one of the largest combinations of automobile manufacturers, ninety-five per cent of the war material made on the Western continent. The elder duPont was a big contributor to the Republican campaign while the billion dollar fortune of the entire duPont families, has been the subject of attack of the Roosevelt administration in court and out. The family was one of the group termed by Roosevelt as "royal economists" that represented the Tory element in the nation. The Roosevelt family is now being cartooned, by daily papers that only a few weeks ago backed the administration campaign. "Papa" duPont likes the jokes so well he has ordered the original cartoon drawing framed and a scrap book formed to be presented to the young couple on their wedding day. The "Romeo Roosevelt, Jr., and Juliet duPont" stunt reflects not so much on the young couple as "Papa" Roosevelt, the breeder of class hatred (for political effect). Next June "Papa" Roosevelt passes the duPont threshold for the mortals when he must affectionately place a kiss on the brow of "Papa" duPont, a "royal economist."

A.B.C. of TAXES

BY BERT FOSTER

A GOOD PLATFORM

RELIEF from excessive taxation would come from the adoption of these four policies:

1. Economy in government expenditures.
2. Stop piling up more public debt.
3. Abolish a multitude of government bureaus.
4. Adopt a pay-as-you-go policy.

When citizens unite into an army of taxpayers, powerful, vocal, and convince our legislators that the interest of the taxpayer must come first—then, and not until then will they stop spending so much of our money.

Consumers Will Have More Money To Spend

Economists Predict Upward Movement In Industries Manufacturing Durable Goods

Economists from all sections of the United States recently weighed the evidence presented at the Outlook Conference in Washington and decided that consumer buying power in 1937 will continue to improve, according to V. R. Wertz, Ohio State University, who was one of the Ohio delegation at the Outlook meeting.

Farmers are interested in consumers' buying power because prices for foodstuffs drop when pocketbooks become thin and every housewife tries to buy economically. The "national income paid out" in the United States in 1929 was 79 billion dollars. The "income paid out" dropped to 45 billion in 1933, rose to 60 billion in 1936, and is expected to be 65 billion in 1937.

Mr. Wertz, quoting from the Washington evidence says, "indications are that the great improvement in 1937 will be in the durable goods industries, such as those producing building materials, steel, machinery, and industrial equipment. To date, the greatest improvement has been in industries producing automobiles, steel, and machine tools. A larger volume of bank deposits and a more rapid turnover of these deposits is expected to give considerable impetus to industry."

"In the month of August, 1936, Ohio farm prices stood sufficiently high to give the Ohio farmer a purchasing power slightly above pre-war." It is probable that the larger part of the gain in prices received by farmers relative to the gain in general price level has already taken place and that from now on the prices of farm and of non-farm products will follow the same general trend.

"Prices paid by farmers for production purposes in 1937 will average higher than prices paid in 1936. The principal items of expenditure which will be higher are labor, feed and seed will remain higher because the 1936 drought increased supplies."

Tells Of New Style
Dress Accessories

Carefully Chosen Shoes, Hosiery, And Gloves Make Whole Costume Appear Attractive

Dress accessories fall into two classes—those which are luxuries such as costume flowers, jewelry, and fancy handkerchiefs, and those which are necessities, like shoes, hose, and gloves, but any accessory should be chosen because it is an attractive part of the whole costume rather than because it is pretty itself.

Necessities come first. Edna M. Callahan, clothing specialist, Ohio State University, says so she starts with shoes. New styles for daytime wear include both oxfords and strap pumps but they are noticeably higher on the instep than former styles. Some stores are showing ankle-high boots, but these are difficult to wear unless the feet are small and the ankles slender.

Black or brown shoes should be bought unless several pairs of shoes can be owned. Brown shoes go with costumes having the "warm colors," rust, copper, yellow-green, and brown. Black shoes go well with gray, blue, blue-green, and purple garments. Gray shoes are attractive with the same colors.

Miss Callahan warns that no matter how stylish shoes may be, their wear never will appear at good advantage if the shoes do not fit. Human nature is not strong enough to permit a cheerful, attractive countenance when the feet are being tortured and no one can walk gracefully when shoes hurt the feet.

Plain hose of harmonizing colors are fashionable now. The hose not only should harmonize but also should have about the same color value as other garments. If they appear much lighter or darker than the other garments, the style makers veto them this year.

Gloves should fit neatly if they are the slip-on variety. Black kid gloves are appearing in the fashion pictures along with others colored spruce green, wine, and copper. The new gloves have stitching and tucks on the back and some have a bracelet strap to hold them snug around the wrist.

Job Had Troubles
Parents Have More

Guiding Children Through Teen Age Would Baffle Wisdom Of Solomon

Job had his troubles and so do other minor troubles, and thought his patients were tried by his tribulations, but he really did not know the ins and outs of bringing up a family, according to Ohio women who write to Mrs. Helen M. Jordan, who is giving a series of talks over WOSU for the home economics extension service of Ohio State University.

One woman says, "My 15-year-old daughter thinks I am old-fashioned and she takes the advice of her girl friends rather than mine. She finds fault with the way I dress and the way I fix my hair. She says she's ashamed of the way her father's hands look. Do you have any idea why she acts the way she does?"

Mrs. Jordan tells the writer that girls at the age of 15 are subject to emotions of which they do not know the origin, and that the heights of joy and the depths of despair keep these youngsters in such a state of turmoil that they become irritable and seem to enjoy criticizing members of the family. Group activities which can be supervised by home demonstration agents will provide an outlet for some of the pent-up energies.

Accepting some of the girl's advice for changes in hair dressing or other minor things may awaken the girl's sense of fair play so she will accept advice of the mother. Remember that boys and girls view all things without background of experience. Things which seem drab or gray to the mother appear golden or rose-colored to them.

Children live in today, tomorrow is in the distant future, and when you are 21 is so far distant that you might as well be dead as wait for that. Patience, Mrs. Jordan says, is the only remedy. Try to find entertainment for the girls and boys, attempt to obtain their confidence so they do not resent the giving of advice, permit them some latitude, and hope for the best. Blunt refusals of requests only intensify the rebellion against the parents' guidance.

The 10-minute talks by Mrs. Jordan are given at 8:50 p. m. every Monday over WOSU, 570 Kilocycles. She asks parents and children to write to her about any particular problems they have and promises to help solve the difficulties by mail or air.

AN AMBASSADOR IN CHAINS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 26:16-24, 30, 31;
ROMANS 8:31-41.
GOLDEN TEXT—I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me. Phil. 4:13.

PRIMARY TOPIC—In the World's Great-est City.
JUNIOR TOPIC—An Ambassador in Chains.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Prisoner Speaks for Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christ Not Silenced.

The rescue of Paul from the Jewish mob by the Roman authorities resulted in consideration of his case on their part to determine what manner of man he was, and why his words and actions provoked such violent reactions among the Jewish subjects of Rome in Judea. When it appeared that Festus, who was procurator, was inclined to turn him over to the Jews at Jerusalem, Paul, knowing of their hatred, makes

I, An Appeal to Caesar (Acts 26:10-11).

It was an act of great significance, and largely determined the course of Paul's life and ministry until his death. It is a question upon which there is no little difference of opinion whether Paul was right in making this appeal. Perhaps Dr. G. Campbell Morgan has best gathered up the truth of the matter in saying, "His way was that of an attitude revealing for all time what the duty of the Christian man is—to be true to his Lord, to be true to his conscience, to be loyal to the powers that be, and to make his appeal to them where necessary, for protection, in order that he may continue his work in accordance with the will of his Lord." Paul made no appeal to save his own life, but he did want to continue his ministry. And this he was permitted to do, for after he had come to Rome we find him to be

II, A Prisoner Preacher (vv. 20-24, 30, 31).

He was chained, but not silenced. He was anxious that those in Rome should "see" and "speak with" him (v. 20). They knew of the Christian "sect" only by rumor as one "which everywhere is spoken against" (v. 22). He now proclaimed the truth to them, and with what results? "Some believed and some disbelieved" (v. 23). Again, we see that the greatest of all preachers not just the same encouragement and discouragement that we face. The witness and messenger is not just the success that crowns his efforts, but by the faithfulness with which he discharges his duty. Let us not condemn our own carelessness or inefficiency by saying that even Paul was unsuccessful; but let us believe that he was diligent, let us be encouraged even though some disbelieve.

Verse 30 indicates that Paul either had a large measure of liberty, being permitted even as a prisoner to dwell in a private house, or that he was tried and acquitted and continued to work in Rome for a period of years. Whichever may be true we cannot but admire the faithful testimony of this man upon whose body time and trouble had borne heavily, but whose spirit was as young and as powerful as the message he presented. And what was his message? We find it in his epistle to the Roman church. It was III, Justification by Faith (Rom. 5:6-11).

Christian men and women are those who were weak (v. 6), ungodly (v. 6), unrighteous sinners (v. 7), and enemies of God (v. 10). But having been justified by his blood (v. 9), they are "saved" (v. 9). What a beautiful word—"saved!" Brought back to God, "reconciled to God through the death of his Son" (v. 10), we are indeed saved if we have accepted him as our Saviour.

This was Paul's message, and it is our message to a lost world.

Count Your Mercies

Be on the lookout for mercies. The more we look for them the more of them will we see. Blessings brighten when we count them. Out of the determination of the heart the eyes see. If you want to be glad, there's a gladness enough to keep you glad; if you want to be glad, there's a gladness enough to keep you glad. Say, "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits." Better lose count in his enumerating your blessings than lose your blessings in telling over your troubles. "Be thankful unto him and bless his name."—Malb. D. Babcock, D. D.

A True Life

One truly Christian life will do more to prove the divine origin of Christianity than many lectures. It is of much greater importance to develop Christian character, than to exhibit Christian evidences. —J. M. Gibson.

Turkey Prices Below That of Former Years

While the price of turkey in the big city market may seem a bit high, one thing is certain and that is the price to the grower in this year of prosperity is much below the price any year of the depression. Market reports are that the supply is probably over the demand this year, due to the drought which was favorable to young turkeys. Cold wet weather is more than young turkeys can stand.

Reports are that turkeys in Texas and Oklahoma are only ten cents to the farmer. In this section William Marshall says that fifteen cents is all he can pay for live birds and these must be in the ten-twelve pound class. Heavy birds only bring twelve cents a pound on foot.

Greene county has more turkeys this year than has been known for many years.

Rike-Kumler Thanksgiving Day Toy Parade

Ten o'clock Thanksgiving morning will find delighted youngsters and grown-ups from throughout the Miami Valley lining Dayton's downtown street to see the Great Annual Rike-Kumler Company Christmas parade. As in the past years this Dayton store will do homage to Santa Claus in a parade of regal pageantry welcoming him to Dayton and to the Rike's Toy Store in a burst of splendor, pomp and festivity.

The parade this year promises to be even bigger and better than those of past years. New floats, new costumes, new colorful and amusing features have been planned and for many months skilled craftsmen and artists have been working to make the event a truly thrilling one.

Buffo, the giant clown, 14 feet high, will lead his favorite characters from the Fairyland and out of the comic strips. You'll find among his happy throng, Pop-eye and Olive Oyl, Mickey and Minnie Mouse, Raggedy

Ann and Andy, The Old Woman who lived in a shoe, Hansel and Gretel, Mother Goose, Little Boy Blue, Old King Cole, Humpty Dumpty, The Three Little Kittens, Peter Rabbit, Little Miss Muffet. There will be Indians and Cowboys and a Circus Wagon with comic monkeys and tigers.

The children of the Dayton High Schools have designed five of the leading floats.

Most important of all, of course, will be Santa himself riding in his giant red sleigh drawn by snow white reindeer and attended by his crew of little elves. He will be master of the day and when the parade arrives at Rike's, Santa will mount a ladder and go down the chimney to his toy headquarters.

The parade will start from the Montgomery County Fairgrounds promptly at 10 o'clock and go straight down Main Street to the Monument. From there it will proceed back on Main Street to the Fairgrounds.

Two Big Pictures in Springfield

Those exciting young lovers of "Captain Blood" Errol Flynn and Olivia DeHavilland are together again in the new Warner Bros. picture, "The Charge of the Light Brigade" which will open a week's engagement in Springfield at the Deluxe Regent theater, Thursday.

Breaking house records in more than 30 of the 55 key cities in which it was first shown last week, the film is predicted to be heading for the No. 1 position of the year! "The Charge of the Light Brigade" has the action and excitement that appeals to men and children and the beautiful romantic sequences which thrill the women. It is one of the few motion pictures which are said to appeal to all theaters.

The Regent theater will present as its Thanksgiving special, starting Thursday, November 26,

"Three Men on a Horse," the film version of the hilarious race horse comedy which rocked Broadway for two years.

The State theater in Springfield has as its week-end attraction opening Saturday for 4 days, "Pigskin Parade," the hilarious Fox musical hit, with Patsy Kelly, Jack Haley, Stuart Erwin, Arline Judge, Betty Grable, The Yacht Club Boys and others featured in the cast. "Pigskin Parade" is the story of a Texas farm boy who developed an amazing accuracy and arm-tossing watermelons and who was subsidized by a college for their game with Yale. The passes he tosses in the big football battle are said to be the most thrilling ever seen, and the comedy and songs in this film are the year's best.
